In hopes of reviving food market needed resource for the community, the city recently celebrated a renovation of La Marqueta, which was funded in part by a grant from the Economic Development Corporation. The city and La Marqueta tenants have collectively pumped more than $1 million into the market, updating front-end stalls and jobs have collectively pumped more than $1 million into the market, updating front-end stalls and "The market is open for business every day," one Mets person said yesterday, "and there's a lot of buzz about how it's going to turn out."

"The market is open for business every day," one Mets person said yesterday, "and there's a lot of buzz about how it's going to turn out."